Friendly Reminder:
Fall '22 Early Alert Campaign Ends Friday, September 23

Thank you to the instructors who have voluntarily helped us to identify students who could most benefit from early support by raising an alert in Starfish. We are seeing an increase in faculty-raised early alerts this year compared to last year at this time.

Proactive Support
Instructors can raise an early alert (flag/kudo/referral) at any point in the semester. Raising an early alert simultaneously notifies the student and the student’s Starfish Success Network of the concern. This action initiates a community of care to help the student get on track to a successful semester.

Raising an early alert for a student is easy and includes just a few steps:

1. Log into Starfish
2. Pull up the student for whom you wish to raise an early alert
3. Select the early alert you wish to raise (i.e., attendance concern, missing/late assignments)
4. Add a comment
5. Submit

For more detailed instructions, click here.

Questions? Join me at Starfish Office Hours or contact me at reidc@newpaltz.edu or 845-257-3590.