NEW YORK STATE UNIVERSITY POLICE
NEW PALTZ
POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

20.1 USE OF FORCE

I. PURPOSE:
In accordance with New York State Laws police officers of the New York State University Police Department, New Paltz are authorized to use force under specific circumstances in order to preserve life and protect property. Federal constitutional and state statutory standards dictate when and how much force is used. This policy sets forth guidelines for the objectively reasonable use of force by Police Officers and is by no means encompassing of all possible situations and scenarios in which force might be used. Police work is inherently dangerous and therefore a variety of factors and circumstances may result in various outcomes.

II. POLICY:
The New York State University of New York at New Paltz recognizes the sanctity of all human life. In accordance with Article Thirty-Five of the Penal Law of New York State and the Fourth Amendment of the United States Constitution, it shall be the policy of this Department that all Officers shall use only that force which is reasonable and necessary to effectively bring an incident under control while protecting the lives of others as well as the lives of the officers.

III. DEFINITIONS:
1. Objectively Reasonable: An objective standard used to judge an officer’s actions. Under this standard, a particular application of force must be judged through the perspective of a reasonable officer facing the same set of circumstances, without the benefit of 20/20 hindsight, and be based on the totality of the facts that are known to that officer at the same time that the force was used.
2. Deadly Physical Force: Physical force which, under the circumstances in which it is used, is readily capable of causing death or serious physical injury.
3. Physical Injury: Impairment of physical condition or substantial pain.
4. Serious Physical Injury: Physical injury which creates a substantial risk of death, or which causes death or serious and protracted disfigurement, protracted impairment of health or protracted loss or impairment of the function of any bodily organ.

IV. DETERMINING OBJECTIVE REASONABLENESS OF FORCE:
1. When used, force should be only that which is objectively reasonable given the circumstances perceived by the officer at the time of the event.
2. Factors that may be used in determining the reasonableness of force include, but are not limited to:
   a. The severity of the crime or circumstance;
   b. The level and immediacy of threat or resistance posed by the suspect;
   c. The potential for injury to citizens, officers, and suspects;
   d. The risk or attempt of the suspect to escape;
   e. The knowledge, training, and experience of the officer;
   f. Officer/subject considerations such as age, size, relative strength, skill level, injury or exhaustion, and the number of officers or subjects;
   g. Other environmental conditions or exigent circumstances.
V. DUTY TO INTERVENE

1. Any officer present and observing another officer using force that he/she reasonably believes to be clearly beyond that which is objectively reasonable under the circumstances shall intercede to prevent the use of unreasonable force, if and when the officer has a realistic opportunity to prevent harm.

VI. USE OF FORCE CONTINUUM:

1. Any time a police officer considers the use of force it shall be incumbent on that officer to assess the situation and use ONLY that level of force which is reasonable and necessary. The officer(s) observations and assessments are crucial. Because the officer must determine whether the actions of the individual(s) are such that compliance to the police officer are being met or to be met, or if the individual(s) are to remain non-compliant or increase their actions which have been deemed to be improper or illegal. The stages of the continuum include:

a. Verbal Direction: This is the least intrusive stage. This stage may include a simple verbal request to a direct compliance command.

b. Physical Direction: This stage often requires physical contact with the person. The amount of physical direction and extent varies with the situation and circumstance. This stage shall be determined to mean that the officer(s) contact can be as slight as a mere touch, to using grab holds, restraint and come-along techniques as adopted through department training.

c. Oleoresin Capsicum Deployment/Display: This is a less than lethal force option that causes irritation to the eyes, mouth and nasal cavity of the combative subject and is deployed to bring the subject into compliance. The actions of displaying, using or deploying oleoresin capsicum at a target are seen as force.

d. Electronic Control Device Deployment/Display: This Department utilizes the Axon Taser X2 which provides a force option which uses replaceable cartridges containing compressed nitrogen to propel two small probes that are attached to the handheld unit by insulated conductive wires. The wires transmit short controlled pulses of electricity in five-second cycles that stimulate the skeletal muscles of the human body. These short electrical pulses affect the sensory and motor functions of the peripheral nervous system to cause temporary incapacitation by preventing coordinated muscular action, without affecting vital organs. Once the five-second cycle is complete, an immediate recovery occurs. Tasers collect and store data regarding each use for post-incident investigations. The actions of brandishing, using or deploying a Taser at a target are seen as force.

e. Strong Physical Directive Measures: These are impact-oriented techniques that include knee strikes, elbow strikes, punches, and kicks. Control strikes are used to subdue a subject and include strikes to pressure points such as the common peroneal (side of the leg), radial nerve (top of the forearm), or brachial plexus origin (side of neck).

f. Impact Weapons Deployment/Display: Impact weapons include batons and expandable batons. Impact weapons may be deployed to deliver deliberate strikes and/or as a control mechanism to bring combative subjects under control. It shall be noted that under certain circumstances the use of an impact weapon may constitute deadly force. The actions of brandishing, using, or deploying an impact weapon at a target are seen as force.
g. Firearms Deployment/Display: This is the deadliest form of physical force and may only be used in circumstances in which deadly force is justified. The actions of brandishing, using, or discharging a firearm at a target are seen as force.

2. Principles of Force Progression:
   a. Stages in the progression of force and levels within each stage may be skipped due to the circumstances.
   b. If possible, the officer should give the subject an opportunity to comply at each level. Once compliance is achieved, escalation in force ceases. To do otherwise constitutes excessive force. Under no circumstances will excessive force be tolerated.
   c. It is not the officer who is the aggressor. A subject escalates the use of force by not complying. In failing to comply, the subject compels the officer to progress to the next level.
   d. Progression is not always upward. Situations in which force is used are often in flux therefore, the officer must continuously assess the circumstances and, as appropriate, escalate or de-escalate the level of force.
   e. Remember that all force situations are judged in the light of "reasonableness and necessity".

VII. PROCEDURES:

1. Less than Lethal Force Options
   a. Where deadly force is NOT AUTHORIZED, officers shall assess the incident in order to determine which option will best deescalate the incident and bring it under control in a safe manner.
   b. Police Officers are approved to use less lethal force options using department issued equipment:
      1. To protect themselves of another from physical harm
      2. To effect a lawful arrest or detention
      3. To prevent the escape of a person from custody
      4. To bring an unlawful situation safely and effectively under control

2. Deadly Force Options
   a. Police Officers are authorized to use deadly force:
      1. To protect themselves or others from what is reasonably believed to be an imminent threat of death or serious physical injury; or
      2. To stop a fleeing suspect where:
         a. The officer has probable cause to believe the suspect has committed a felony involving the infliction or threat of serious physical injury or death; and
         b. The officer reasonably believes that the suspect poses an imminent threat of serious physical injury to the officer or to others.
   b. Before using a firearm, Police Officers shall identify themselves and state their intent to shoot, where feasible.
   c. Police Officers may also discharge their weapons under the following circumstances:
      1. During range training, practice and competitive shooting events
2. To destroy an animal that represents a threat to public safety or as a humanitarian measure where an animal has been injured, maimed, disabled or sick.
3. Except for maintenance, inspection or training Officers shall not draw their firearms unless circumstances create reasonable cause to believe it necessary to use the firearm in conformance with this policy.
4. Warning shots are not permitted.
5. Police Officers shall not fire at a moving vehicle unless that vehicle is being used as a deadly weapon.

VIII. PROHIBITED USES OF FORCE
1. Force shall not be used by an officer for the following reasons:
   a. To extract an item from the anus or vagina of a subject without a warrant, except where exigent circumstances are present;
   b. To coerce a confession from a subject in custody;
   c. To obtain blood, saliva, urine, or other bodily fluids or cells, from an individual for the purposes of scientific testing in lieu of a court order where required;
   d. Against persons who are handcuffed or restrained unless it is used to prevent injury, escape, or otherwise overcome active or passive resistance posed by the subject.

IX. TRAINING AND QUALIFICATIONS:
1. Firearms
   a. While on duty, Police Officers shall only carry firearms and ammunition authorized by the Department. In addition Officers must meet the annual Departmental qualification standards with their firearms.
   b. The Police Department shall schedule regular training qualification sessions for firearms which will be graded on a pass/fail basis.
   c. Officers who fail to receive a pass rating with their duty weapon, in accordance with established qualification standards shall be reported to the Chief of Police. The Chief of Police shall review such report and may render any of the following decisions:
      1. Refer Officer to remedial firearms training.
      2. Temporary reassignment of that Office to non-enforcement duties
      3. Disciplinary action based on incompetent performance of duties related to employment
      4. An Officer who has taken an extended leave or suffered and illness or injury that could affect their ability to use a firearm will be required to qualify before returning to duty.
      5. In reference to above, the Chief of Police shall have the authority to recall all Department issued firearms until the Officer is qualified by a certified firearms instructor.
   2. Use of Force
      a. All officers will receive training and demonstrate their understanding on the proper application of force once a year.
      b. Training will include use of force, conflict prevention, conflict resolution and negotiation, and de-escalation techniques and strategies, including, but not limited to, interacting with persons presenting in an agitated condition as well as duty to intervene and prohibited conduct.
