CLASSES FILL EARLY
Welcome to our Fall 2024 Catalog

The education we received as children and teens helped prepare us for adulthood by providing the knowledge and skills to function in society. Postsecondary education improved our career prospects and earning potential. Lifetime Learning offers another form of education driven entirely by one’s curiosity and thirst for knowledge. No degrees are received for lifelong learning, but the benefits are numerous, including improved mental sharpness and increased self-esteem.

This catalog offers 36 classes that cover a wide range of topics appealing to members varied interests; these include history, science, technology, entertainment, dance to name a few. Classes are offered either in-person or virtually.

As you peruse the catalog take time to realize that all this work was done by volunteers, members just like you, who have worked hard over six months (actually beginning when the last catalog was published) to put this together. The curriculum committee began searching for presenters to hold classes and the catalog committee began developing an outline for the present catalog. As a previous member of both of those committees I personally want to thank them all for another great publication.

Your challenge will be deciding which of the classes appeal to you, those you can/cannot take due to time restraints or class day. I don’t need to emphasize the importance of registering as soon as possible. Classes fill up quickly so I strongly suggest you register online ASAP so you are not closed out of classes you truly desire.

We dedicate this catalog in memory of Lyn Mayo, our founding member who passed away recently.

BEGINNER LINE DANCE
Paula Greenspan
Redeemer Lutheran Church
T1  10:00 - 11:15
CLASS LIMIT:  20

Learn and practice some basic line dances to Pop and Country Western music, with an emphasis on having fun and moving within our individual abilities. Line dancing is done singly, no partner required. We dance in rows, not touching each other. Wear comfortable and supportive shoes, ideally with a hard sole. It's an aerobic activity so consider dressing lightly or in layers. You'll receive step sheets and links to videos of the dances so you can practice between classes, but it's not required.

Paula Greenspan has loved dancing since she took a Tap and Tumbling class at age 5, and has carried her passion throughout her life and across several continents. She enthusiastically participates in several types of folk and popular dancing, and enjoys sharing her passion for joyfully moving to music. She leads line dancing regularly in Poughkeepsie, where she also teaches ENL (English as a New Language).

NEUROPLASTICITY - SPARK YOUR BRAIN
We will work together to reopen the neuro pathways to the brain. The practice is done sitting which allows students to feel comfortable and safe while doing exercises to music while engaging various parts of the body.

MATTER OF BALANCE – FEAR OF FALLING
We have balance points throughout our body and we need to work them so they can work for us. These classes will work on strengthening your balance by working from the top of your head to the bottom of your feet. I keep the class interesting and fun. You will find this is a great class to attend every week! I take time to explain why we do each exercise, especially the fear of falling.

Marilyn Reitman began to teach 15 years ago through the government programs in Florida. She enjoys watching her students progress through her teaching methodology. After taking a course in Neuroplasticity, she taught that for three years in Florida and Mexico. Her aim is to see everyone laugh, smile and learn how to take care of themselves. She is certified in Neuroplasticity, Balance and Tai Chi.

NATURALIST BOOK and HIKING CLUB:

Josh Grosse
Minnewaska State Park Preserve
T5 2:00 - 4:30 (2.5 hours)
CLASS LIMIT: 12

Join Josh Grosse, Student Conservation Association/AmeriCorps Environmental Educator for a naturalist book club opportunity at Minnewaska State Park Preserve. The book will be Robin Wall Kimmerer’s, Braiding Sweetgrass. Each chapter of Braiding Sweetgrass focuses on a different natural phenomenon, with Kimmerer recalling personal anecdotes, her study of western science, and her Native roots to help her understand and explain what the natural world can teach us.
For each class, we will take an easy to moderate hike, wherein we will discuss the chapter, and find real-life instances of these phenomena at Minnewaska.

Please note that participants need to be able to walk the distance of each outing in the allotted time frame. Hikes will be no longer than four miles. Folks should also come prepared with enough water and food to sustain themselves, and proper clothing and footwear to stay comfortable.

Book chapters and hike locations will be determined at a later date.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN AI OFFERINGS

Don Grice

SUNY Campus

W1 09:30 - 10:45

The field of AI (Artificial Intelligence) has been changing very rapidly recently with the release of the new Large Language Models (LLMs) by several companies. Just a year ago most of the focus was on the newly released Chatbots that were primarily in an early research phase.

Since then, there have been releases of a wide variety of AI tools by a large number of vendors but they were still primarily in ‘interest generation mode’. Now the focus is rapidly changing into the ‘how do we make money’ phase and there are constantly new apps, assistants and ‘copilots’ being made available in a wide range of use cases by a large number of vendors.

Many of the basic functions are still available for free and those will be the ones we will use for any discussions. As with many apps these days you can pay for additional functions if you decide you really want to use the app and the functions are worth it for you to pay for.

We will spend a good portion of each of the 8 classes discussing what the latest developments are and what they might mean to you and society in general.

Then, depending on the amount of material in the ‘current events’ section we will fill the rest of the class time with a discussion of a variety of topics that are related to the AI and Expert System offerings.

There was some interest, for example, in a brief ‘history of computing’ that could cover how far things have come over the years and what lies ahead with new technologies like Quantum Computing without getting into too much technical detail.

The exact topics we cover will be guided by the interests of the class members and suggestions are always welcome.

Don Grice has a PhD in Electrical Engineering and worked at IBM in system design for close to 50 years, including a big emphasis on Man-Machine Interaction and large scale parallel supercomputing. His thesis was in the area of Voice Recognition and Communication similar to what we all take for granted today with systems like Siri and Alexa. He also worked with IBM’s Research Division on programs like Deep-Blue the Chess playing machine, and Watson the Jeopardy machine.
THE STRUCTURAL EFFECT ON HUMAN RIGHTS OF RELIGION IN AMERICAN LAW AND POLITICS
Kris McDaniel-Miccio
SUNY Campus
W2  12:30 - 1:45
CLASS LIMIT: 30

Religion has always been given a wide berth in American culture, law and politics. However, to be specific, it is Christianity which has been given space in Americanism. Indeed, Christmas is a national holiday and citations to the writings of Saul, as St. Paul, dot US Supreme Court opinions (and dissents), structured parts of our criminal law and at times trumped other expressions of life and liberty.

This course shall examine use of religion in law, culture and politics and whether its use has impacted basic human rights of life & liberty.

Dr Kris McDaniel-Miccio is a professor of law, an attorney, and rabbi. She has multiple degrees in law, theology, political science and education. McDaniel-Miccio has taught courses as a law professor in the U.S. and EU and in LLI programs at SUNY, Saugerties, Bard and Vassar. A Fulbright & European Commission Scholar, with myriad publications on law, policy, culture.

McDaniel-Miccio is one of those rare academics who actually worked on legal, political, and cultural issues in the community—litigating successful cases challenging discrimination against women and the LGBTQ community, authoring numerous pieces of legislation, consulting on international matters challenging misogyny and racism in the US and abroad.

And one personal note, she was raised Roman Catholic, is a graduate from a premier Catholic College— and is a rabbinic scholar. Go figure!

MAJOR BATTLES OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR (PART 2)
Robert Ulrich
SUNY Campus
W3  2:00 - 3:15

Part 1, in the north, ended with the Battle of Saratoga, considered the turning point of the 8 year long struggle. From that point on, the British strategy changed and moved the action to the little covered southern colonies. Quickly losing two armies in a row, a new Patriot strategy was needed, and it came in the way of newly appointed head of the Southern Department, Nathanael Greene, who introduced a form of guerrilla war, and a major use of local militia assistance.

With Great Britain losing both interest as well as vast sums of money, the war would wind down, but with a new problem introduced: How to restore Civil Order amongst the Patriots and those once Loyal to the King? The major fighting ends at the Siege of Yorktown, with the French army and navy now allied and fighting along side of the Americans, but the end of the war and agreeing on Peace terms would drag on for two more years.

Bob Ulrich has been a past presenter at LLI and other local Lifetime Learning programs. Bob has been a Guest Speaker at Mohonk Mt House in their after dinner lecture series, as well at appearances at several local organizations and senior facilities including the Landings of Poughkeepsie and Woodland Pond. His focus has been on early American History.

OPERA AS (RACIAL) POLITICS
Chuck Mishaan
SUNY Campus
W4  2:00 - 3:15

This course will examine the history of Black representation and presence on stage, from the Renaissance and Shakespeare to the current opera season. From actors in blackface and Jim Crow dancers to today’s all-black casts, we’ll explore how the theater reflected and challenged the racial stereotypes of the times, in Europe and the United States.
Class presentations will include video commentaries and performances.

Chuck Mishaan has been presenting courses at SUNY New Paltz for many years, including his popular Opera as Politics series and recently, ‘The Roaring 20s’, ‘Between the Wars: Arts and Culture of the 1930s’ and ‘The War and After: Arts and Culture of the 1940s’.
His commentary on the intersection of politics and the arts continues with this course

FOR THE LOVE OF SHAKESPEARE
An Introduction to the Sonnets
Peter Rogen
SUNY Campus
W5  3:30 - 4:45
CLASS LIMIT: 12

A revised version of the Spring 2024 course, will jump right into the Sonnets in the first class. The discussion of each Sonnet will include its content and meaning as a whole as well as a line-by-line study. Each Sonnet’s structure, word usage, cultural/historical background, and, most importantly, the interplay of all its parts serves as an excellent, stimulating and fun approach to the study of Shakespeare’s iconic collection of poems known as “The Sonnets”.
These fourteen-line poems about love contain many diverse and challenging life experiences that may have been in Shakespeare’s heart and mind when he wrote “The course of true love never did run smooth” (A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Act I, Scene I).
The word sonnet comes from the Italian “soneto” meaning “little song”. Composed amidst world-changing events in Elizabethan England during the Renaissance, at a troubled time much like ours today. These sonnets may be read as isolated poems or as exploring different forms of love and desire, and challenging long established mainstream values. New views of the world and humankind’s role in it were being questioned. The bubonic plague was beginning to kill one person in six, creating further anxiety and uncertainty. These Sonnets were uncannily ahead of their time-addressing many of the identity and relationship issues that divide our present society. Shakespeare’s insightful content, creative structure, and poetic skill provide us with new energy to approach these challenging issues today.

Suggested Readings:
William Shakespeare, “The Sonnets and A Lover’s Complaint” Edited by John Kerrigan, (Published by Penguin Classics), Amazon: $17.95

Peter Rogen’s search for truth and love, and his passion for communication, theater and poetry, are threads that have run through his life and career.
He has performed in Off-Broadway Shakespeare productions of the Helen Hayes Equity Theater repertoire, won a Ford Foundation grant for Early Admission at age fifteen to enter the University of Chicago, and later awarded a Rockefeller Foundation Grant to teach, Voice and Speech in the American Theater.
After several years of teaching, Peter left the theatrical world and founded his own international communications consultancy, which he managed for more than 25 years.

GLOBAL WARMING, MULTINATIONAL CORPORATIONS, AND ENVIRONMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS:
A Sociological View of the Ecological Crisis and Public Health Policy
Irwin Sperber
SUNY Campus
W6  3:30 - 4:45
CLASS LIMIT: 20

The harm done by greenhouse gas emissions has been known for thirty years. For example, Al Gore already began to publicize this evidence in 1989 and was awarded the Nobel Prize for his Inconvenient Truth in 2007. How much harm reduction has been accomplished since then? How have environmental organizations (NGOs) and regulatory agencies confronted the fossil fuel industry? How do large corporations avoid accountability for their pollution of our air, water, and soil?

How have public health agencies coped with the diseases arising from (or making a comeback in) a heated planet? How can ordinary citizens (senior citizens, students, consumers, workers) effectively respond to them?

We will address these questions and explore some inconvenient truths about prospects for Lyme disease, malaria, yellow fever, cancer and even bubonic plague in the Catskills.

Irwin Sperber received his doctorate in sociology from the University of California at Berkeley (1975). Over the past thirty years at SUNY New Paltz, he has taught courses on environmental policy, public health, drug addiction in American society, and medical sociology. He has chaired panels on environmental and economic issues at academic conferences, and served as an associate editor of Capitalism Nature Socialism (a journal devoted to radical ecology).

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT: An Extraordinary Woman in an Extraordinary Time
Dan Strickland

SUNY Campus
W9  11:00 - 12:15

How did a timid orphan from a wealthy family become a champion of the poor? What was her role during the Depression and WWII?
We will explore Eleanor Roosevelt’s life and the people who surrounded her as she grew to become what President Truman called ‘The First Lady of the World’.
In four sessions, we’ll look at an overview of her life including: her formative years, family life, education, marriage, motherhood, emerging political interests, her years in Albany and Washington, and then her support of the United Nations and beyond.
We’ll look at changing gender roles and ER’s place in those changes. We’ll also include an intro to Val-Kill, Eleanor’s residence in Dutchess County that she considered her retreat and her home.

Dan Strickland has been a volunteer with the National Park Service (NPS) in Hyde Park for seven years. During this time, he has focused on the life of Eleanor Roosevelt in particular as he gives tours of Eleanor’s home at Val-Kill.
In addition, he recently completed a 2+ year volunteer project with the NPS curatorial team to better identify and organize oral history interviews for the ER/FDR/Vanderbilt sites. Dan considers himself an ‘Eleanorian’ and hopes to convey some of his fascination with this very special lady.

PLAYING WITH SHAKESPEARE
Jessica Rothman

SUNY Campus
W10  11:00 - 12:15
CLASS LIMIT: 16

After Shakespeare’s death, some of his fellow players gathered a number of scripts together and had them published under the title “Complete Works”.
We’ve been “working” on them ever since. However, they were PLAYERS - and we need to PLAY! This is not an academic class “about” Shakespeare. This is an exploration of the language of the plays as an actor would approach it, through the use of theatrical games and exercises.
Each week we will be building skills that will help us appreciate the joy of playing, if you will forgive the paraphrase, suiting the actions to the words, the words to the actions

Jessica D. Rothman has been a theatre educator and director of both Shakespeare and Musical Theatre for five decades and has created curriculum guides for Broadway shows. She is a past NYS Director of the International Thespian Society and a member of SAG/AFTRA.
LAUREL CANYON & ROCK ‘n’ ROLL
Richard Sullivan
SUNY Campus
W11  11:00 - 12:15
A short history of Laurel Canyon. Then discussions and bios on the Rock ‘n’ Rollers who made it their home for a while. Other than those who made it home in the 60's, why was it so popular?
Richard Sullivan has presented many classes for LLI over many years. The focus of the classes has been about his passion for music. Each class has been a different genre of Americana music, starting with the earliest times in America. He continues to love the music, is a DJ on the Internet and loves teaching it in its many forms.

UNDERSTANDING THE MODERN MIDDLE EAST
Lewis Brownstein
SUNY Campus
W12  11:00 - 12:15
This course will attempt to account for the current state of affairs in the modern Middle East by tracing the evolution of the current system in the 20th and 21st centuries. Emphasis will be placed on the political, economic and ideological forces which have shaped this region in the past 100 years.
Lewis Brownstein taught International Relations at SUNY New Paltz from 1968 to 2015. His major fields of interest included the International Relations of the Middle East, American foreign policy, and defense issues.

HUMAN EVOLUTION OF CONTEMPORARY WORLD ISSUES
Richard Douglass
SUNY Campus
W13  12:30 - 1:45
This course is an exploration of the evolution of human consciousness and behavior from our beginnings as hunter-gatherers to the present state of contemporary worldwide issues. It brings into view the question of who we are, where we have come from, and where we are going. Much, but not all of the course material is taken from “A Wakening Earth” by Dwayne Elgin, 1993

Richard Douglas is a psychologist who has been in practice in the Hudson Valley since 1984 and is retired from St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie. He began teaching while completing his doctoral work at Hofstra University on Long Island in the 70’s. After completion of his studies, he stayed on at Hofstra and taught full time. He has also taught psychology at SUNY New Paltz. He has had a lifelong interest in human evolution but this is his first effort at discussing it with others in classroom setting.

The most important function of education at any level is to develop the personality of the individual and the significance of one’s life to self and others.
THE BEATLES:
From Black & White To Color
John Bohan
SUNY Campus
W14  12:30 - 1:45

We will look at how the Beatles transformed the “Black & White” world of the 1950’s into the “Color” world of the 1960’s. This societal transformation will be viewed through the lenses of music, fashion, and pop culture.

John Bohan was a High School Social Studies teacher for 30 years and he recently retired from the Wallkill High School. He once taught a course on ‘Pop Culture’ for High School students which included a unit on the Beatles. He is now an Adjunct Professor with Ulster Community College.

HISTORY’s UNCHARTED STORIES:
Four Neglected Tales of the Hudson River Valley
Alex Prizgintas
SUNY Campus
W15  2:00 - 3:15

From its role in the American Revolution to the 1960s Cultural Revolution, New York’s Hudson Valley has held a pivotal place in American history. While many of these stories are important, only some have been carefully preserved, shared, and passed down through generations.

Using techniques of researching minute facts to uncover the hearts and hands that shaped what many of us call home, historian Alex Prizgintas presents a four-part lecture series about neglected history in the Hudson Valley.

Week 1
With a journey beginning in the eighteenth-century Gomez Mill House of Marlboro, NY, Prizgintas reveals the home’s significance as the nation’s oldest Jewish dwelling.

Week 2
A trip West brings listeners to the Ellenville Glass Works—an industry that, despite once boasting more than 700 employees, has vanished without almost any traces.

Week 3
This nineteenth-century industrial expansion was also a point at which dairy farming in regions such as Orange County, NY blossomed. It was here that, with the help of railroads, the first long-distance shipment of milk in the nation in 1842.

Week 4
Transitioning to the twentieth century, several of these influences had an effect on developing what many of us remember as the hotels and bungalow colonies which populated the Catskill Mountains.

An historian, musician and lecturer who focuses on neglected history of the Catskills and Hudson Valley region, Alex Prizgintas serves as president of the Woodbury Historical Society in Orange County, NY and has been published in the Hudson River Valley Review, Orange County Historical Society Journal, and the New York Archives Magazine.

Alex holds degrees in history and a Master’s of Public Administration from Marist College and has ten years of experience as a musician and lecturer traveling across New York and New Jersey.

The class ends with stretching and “centering” exercises. (One hour duration) A mat or towel is recommended for floor work. Weights allowed but not necessary. Dynabands provided by instructor during class.

Susan Trager has been an instructor (dance, personal training, aerobics) for over 40 years. She has taught in NYC, Germany, and has had her own personal training business for over 20+ years. Her view on movement and exercise is “any movement is better than none; and every “body” is different-we’re not all the same.” Individual attention in a group atmosphere.

INTERMEDIATE SPANISH CONVERSATION
Claudia Battaglia

St Joseph’s Church
F2  1:00 - 2:15
CLASS LIMIT: 12

Effective language learning requires conversational practice. Would you like to improve your ability to converse with native speakers, communicate with hired help, or enrich your travel experience in a casual and supportive atmosphere? Bienvenidos! Here is opportunity to practice!

This is a course for intermediate students who have studied Spanish and are able to engage in simple/intermediate level conversations. Though some knowledge of grammar is essential for learning a foreign language, this course will be primarily conversational in nature. I will provide grammatical charts of information for those who want to study, or use them as reference guides/“cheat sheets” during class. Conversation will be both guided by the instructor, and driven by class interest. There will be some situational role-playing for the adventurous but no pressure to participate until ready. Please bring a few photo or other props to the first class to prompt conversation.

A retired English teacher, Claudia Battaglia now speaks Spanish almost daily with friends, or in her work as an interpreter for Ulster Immigrant Defense Network (UIDN). She has taught Spanish as an adjunct instructor at SUNY New Paltz, and in the SUNY Language Immersion program. Her love of languages and all things foreign was sparked at a young child, by her mother, who was born in France, and spoke French to Claudia. Having recently studied Arabic, Claudia brings a keen awareness to her classroom of the difficulties and frustrations of trying to express simple thoughts in a foreign language.

WILTWYCK- a 17th Century Dutch Village
Marilou Abramshe

Redeemer Lutheran Church

F5  11:00 - 12:15

Why did the Dutch settle in Ulster County? Why was Kingston first known as Wiltwyck? What was life like in the 17th Century Dutch colony? Were all the colonists in Wiltwyck Dutch? What parts of our lives can be traced back to those early settlers? These and other questions about the first Europeans to settle in what is today Ulster County will be discussed as we learn what life was like in Wiltwyck, a 17th Century Dutch Village

Marilou Abramshe was introduced to Wiltwyck in 2011 while working with Susan Stressin Cohen in developing a local history curriculum for 4th and 8th grade students. Since then she has continued researching and presenting programs on all facets of local history. Marilou feels that it is in knowing our history, we can better understand our present.
CREATE YOUR OWN PILGRIMAGE
Puja Thomson

St Joseph’s Church
F6  11:00 - 12:15

A pilgrimage, traditional or modern, is an inner journey of personal, and possibly spiritual, significance within an outer journey. For example, you might go, alone or with others, to a holy site, to a place you have dreamed of, in search of your ancestors, or for healing. It could be distant or nearby, like a local labyrinth.

Discover where YOUR pilgrimage beckons and explore the four phases of a pilgrimage:
1] the preparation,
2] the journey,
3] the arrival and
4] the return to integrate,
and perhaps share, its gifts.

Puja A. J. Thomson has traveled widely in the spirit of a pilgrimage, rather than a tourist, since her youth in Scotland. As Director of ROOTS & WINGS, and as a long-time LLI presenter, through participatory workshops & writing, she offers tools to support authenticity, health & wellbeing.

REFLECTIVE JOURNALING
Barbara Jimerson

ONLINE
TH3  1:00 - 2:30

Studies have shown that personal journal writing increases and improves brain function, regulates anxiety and stress, and creates a sense of control or order in one’s life. Reflective journaling is facilitated by using a thematic approach. Each session covers a topic with prompts which encourages depth of thought. Sharing one’s writing is optional. Capturing the jumble of thoughts that cloud the mind often leads to a recognition of vulnerability and a sense of self-acceptance and understanding.

Years ago, Barbara Jimerson searched for classes and approaches to personal writing formats, both for her own use and for presenting this form of writing to others. In the decades that followed, she has used reflective journaling in her classroom as an English teacher and a facilitator in peer counseling classes. She also began to present therapeutic reflective writing classes to athletes suffering from severe concussions as well as to those recovering from substance abuse. Barbara continues to facilitate these classes to senior adults in her community.

THE SAGA OF ANTHONY & SUSANNAH,
Two Africans who fled Enslavement in 1670’s Ulster County
Eddie Moran

ONLINE
TH4  11:00 - 12:30

In the Fall of 1673, as the Dutch briefly reclaimed the colony of New York, two enslaved Africans named Anthony and Susannah were among property seized from Col. Lewis Morris, a wealthy English planter in New York City. Soon after, they were sold by agents of the Dutch government to Louis Dubois, a future founder of New Paltz, NY. This is the earliest known record of enslavement by a New Paltz Patentee. However, Anthony and Susanna took their lives into their own hands the following Spring. They fled from Dubois and made the long journey back to the estate of Lewis Morris, setting off a legal battle over the ownership of these two human beings which would last for some five years.

While elements of Anthony and Susannah’s story have been known in New Paltz for decades, recent research by Eddie Moran of Historic Huguenot Street has brought together over a dozen newly located archival sources on the pair. In this course, Eddie will walk participants through these records to reveal the difficult and courageous experiences of two enslaved people amid a turbulent period of 17th century New York. Sessions will consist of visual presentations followed by group discussion. No materials are required for this course, and supplemental readings and resources will be provided to participants.

Eddie Moran currently serves as the Tour and Interpretation Manager at Historic Huguenot Street, and as a historical researcher for the Dr Margaret Wade Lewis Center, in New Paltz. He graduated with a B.A. in history from SUNY New Paltz in the Spring of 2020. Eddie began work as a tour guide at Historic Huguenot Street in 2017 and has overseen guided tours and interpretation full-time at HHS since January of 2022. He is a lifelong resident of the New Paltz area, and a descendant of New Paltz’s Huguenot and Dutch colonizers.
THE POWER OF SACRED SITES
Lyla Yastion

ONLINE
TH5  1:00 - 2:30

What has prompted human beings through the ages to assign sacred qualities to certain natural landscapes, buildings, and even the concept of a ‘soul’?
We will explore the power of sacred sites by considering examples of sacred land, sacred architecture and the sacred space in the heart – the place of the soul’s journey to enlightenment. These three sacred spaces often weave together as a web.
For example, in Southern England there is an energetic grid underneath the ground that connects three sacred sites: Glastonbury, Stonehenge and Avebury. When reactivated this energetic pattern promotes spiritual growth for all peoples and aids in healing the world.

Lyla Yastion received a Ph.D. in anthropology at SUNY Albany and taught courses in anthropology and religious studies for 18 years at the college level, most recently at SUNY New Paltz. Since her retirement she has been presenting courses at various lifelong learning centers in the Hudson Valley. Lyla has written two books: Pause Now: Handbook for a Spiritual Revolution (2009) and Homesick: finding our way back to a healthy planet (2018), both published by Hamilton Books. She is certified in mindfulness-based-stress-reduction (MBSR), having studied with Jon Kabat-Zinn. She is a reiki master with training in shamanic healing.

SCIENCE POTPOURRI 7
Carole Heyl - Coordinator

ONLINE
TH6  3:00 - 4:30

Science encompasses a wide variety of topics. This series deals with Humankind and from the beginning of time, we have sought the answer to the age-old questions of:

Oct 24: Don Grice
A Brief History of Computing
In this presentation we will discuss how far tools used for computing have come over the years. Computing technology is in the news quite a bit these days with the development of self-driving cars, crypto currency (Bitcoin mining), and of course AI.
We will briefly cover where things started. For example, was there always a Zero? People are now carrying Super Computers around with them all the time. We call them Cellphones. How did we get there? And how did the old ‘dial phone system’ actually jump start the computer development industry?
What’s coming next and what are Quantum Computers anyway?

Oct 31: Jeremy Heyl
JWST: A successor to Hubble?
No, it is so much more!
On Christmas Day 2021, astronomers received a long-awaited gift, the launch of the most ambitious and expensive science experiment: the James Webb Space Telescope. I will describe the launch and deployment of JWST to the second Lagrange point (L2), the capabilities of JWST and some recent discoveries from the mission. My team was fortune to be awarded time in the first year of JWST operations and again for next year. Our first program was to search for evidence of planets in the ancient and metal-poor cluster of stars, 47 Tucanae. Next year’s program follows this up with two more clusters (Terzan 5 and Liller 1) by taking a movie of each cluster to look for stars with planets and stars losing mass to unseen companions.

Nov 7: Cathy Law
Adventures of a Curious Biologist
Join world traveler Cathy Law on a captivating adventure through some of the world’s most biodiverse regions and explore the unique animals and plants that live there.

Nov 14: Patricia O’Neill Ricks
Nutrition for Health and Wellbeing
In this presentation we will approach the subject of nutrition for the senior population and the benefits of eating well for health and well-being. It will include information on the Mediterranean Diet and possible Medication and Food interactions including facts on Ozempic and other weight loss medication treatments that may affect your health.

Don Grice has a PhD in Electrical Engineering and worked at IBM in system design for close to 50 years, including a big emphasis on Man-Machine Interaction and large scale parallel supercomputing. His thesis was in the area of Voice Recognition and Communication similar to what we all take for granted today with systems like Siri and Alexa. He also worked with IBM’s Research Division on programs like Deep-Blue the Chess playing machine, and Watson the Jeopardy machine.

Jeremy Heyl has published over 200 research papers on topics ranging from quantum field theory and cosmology to high-energy and stellar astrophysics.

He studied at Princeton, Durham, Cambridge and Santa Cruz and worked at Caltech and Harvard. He joined the UBC faculty in 2003 and became the head of Physics and Astronomy at UBC in 2024. He is an expert on stellar evolution and especially stellar remnants, such as white dwarfs, neutron stars and black holes. With his students, he measured for the first time the cooling of both typical white dwarfs and massive dwarfs, the mass-loss of solar-mass stars in globular clusters, the evolutionary timescale of blue straggler stars and the effects of vacuum birefringence on the polarization of light. All of these projects have required the combination of theoretical insights (and calculations) with innovative statistical techniques to understand the astrophysical datasets.

Cathy Law taught high school biology and geology for 25 years at New Paltz High School. There she started the Courtyard Gardens which became an outdoor classroom for hands-on science research. Cathy was also an adjunct professor of geology for 10 years at SUNY New Paltz. Cathy is an emeritus Master Teacher of New York State and has published in the Green Teacher Magazine. She has retired from public school education and presently works at Stonecrop gardens as a botany instructor and plant geek guide. Cathy is a world traveler and has currently been to 67 countries. She is recently back from Brazil and Antarctica and has braved icebergs, sheet ice, mosquito outbreaks and 60 knot winds to be with you today.

Patricia O’Neill Ricks, MPA, RD, CDN is a practicing Registered Dietitian with over 40 years of clinical and managerial dietetic experience. She is presently working with the Ulster County Office for the Aging as a Consulting Dietitian.

Elting Memorial Library
SP2  11:00 - 12:15

We enter the art world through the discussion of three books, all centering around real events, ranging from 17th century Holland, to 1930s Austria, to a more recent Boston art heist.

Sept 23: The Art Forger,
by B. A. Shapiro
In 1990, thirteen works of art worth today over $500 million were stolen from the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum in Boston. It remains the largest unsolved art heist in history. In this fictionalized account, a woman who makes her living reproducing famous works of art for a popular online retailer, agrees to forge one of the stolen Degas masterpieces.

Oct 14: Girl With the Pearl Earring,

History and fiction merge in this account of Johannes Vermeer, a 17th century Delft school painter, and the model for his painting “Girl with a Pearl Earring.”

Nov 4: The Lady in Gold,
by Anne-Marie O’Connor
The true story of Adel Bloch-Bauer, a Viennese Jewish society figure, and the painting of her by Gustave Klimt. The Nazis confiscated the portrait and put it on display, stripping Adele’s Jewish surname from it so that no clues to her identity would be revealed.
