SEXUAL ASSAULT/SEXUAL HARASSMENT

What to Do After You Have Been Raped or Sexually Assaulted?

Go to a Place that is Safe.

Your first concern should be to get to a safe place. Go to a friend's room or to your Resident Assistant and/or Resident Director.

Don't:

shower, bathe, douche or change clothes before you seek medical attention.

Tell Someone.

Let someone know what has happened to you so that they may provide emotional support for you. Pick a friend you trust, a Resident Assistant, Resident Director, University Police, or any University staff or faculty member. Let someone help you.

Seek Medical Attention.

See a doctor immediately for treatment of any injuries. The doctor can provide important medical evidence should you choose to report the assault or rape and press charges.

Report the Assault or Rape:

to the appropriate police agency (University Police if the crime took place on campus, Town Police if the crime took place off campus).

Seek Counseling.

Consult a trained rape-crisis counselor through HAVEN, OASIS, the Psychological Counseling Center, or Ulster County Crime Victims.

Procedures for Reporting:

Men or women who wish to report an incident of sexual assault or sexual harassment, those wishing to confidentially discuss an incident, those who may be undecided about proceeding with criminal or campus charges, or individuals who may not label a given experience as rape but who have questions or concerns about unwanted sexual experiences or aggressive relations, may contact the following persons or offices for advice and assistance:
